

Ames Productions, formerly New Vision Communications, is a film production and communications consulting organization with more than 35 years of experience in television, communications and media.

Program credits (35+) include:

- Treasures of the Library of Congress Nationwide Prime Time PBS Documentary
- Oil Shockwave with Judy Woodruff Nationwide Prime Time PBS Documentary
- Man, Energy & The Environment Multi-Year Series of Nationwide Multi-Location Live Interactive Documentary Events (15 over three years)
- On The Edge: Living with Epilepsy Nationwide PBS Documentary

Current projects include:

- Saving Claire (documentary) Premiered in Tampa Bay (2019).
- The Saving Claire Project (events & engagement) Premiered in 2020 as part of the innovative series and content platform Thriving In Place:
 - Currently used nationwide, including the Virginia Department of Health, Marymount Center for Optimal Aging, the Washington Department of Health, Pinellas County, FL and Oasis Distance Learning
 - The core Fall Prevention education effort for each of these organizations
 - Instrumental in the reduction of E911 falls calls in Pinellas County, Florida: the first reduction attributed to community education in more than a decade
 - Created "Aging with Grace, Thriving In Place" with Aging True in Jacksonville, FL. Combines storytelling and communications with home visits, digital literacy, a companion guide book, and home modifications & resources to support healthy independent Aging in Place.
- Thriving In Place: An Exploration of the Good Life After 50 National distribution beginning in 2024
- Next 1000 Days Currently in production, target release date 2024

- Barbara Stauffacher Solomon: Still Making Waves Premiered at the San Francisco Museum of Modern Art (2019). A look at the extraordinary life and work of the groundbreaking artist.

Reaching millions of viewers with compelling & critical topics, Ames' programming has received the extremely rare & coveted "Recommended for Viewing" endorsement from the National Education Association and was recognized with a White House award from the President's Council on Sustainable Development.

They have produced and directed US Senators, Cabinet Secretaries, Pulitzer and Nobel Prize winners, editors, publishers, academics, CEOs and activists in live events, documentaries and talk format programs.

Additional programs have included:

- Clean Cities One hour specials on Sustainable Cities, for Public Television
- The Future of the Electric Car The first-ever Nationwide Live Public Television Broadcast from Disney's EPCOT Innoventions Center in Orlando
- You Are Your Child's First Teacher ETS & Florida Dept. of Education

Selected Clients & Sponsors

AT&T, Ford, GM, The U.S. Dept. of Energy, The Tides Foundation, The Hewlett Foundation, The Jefferson Energy Foundation, Photon Consulting, Xerox, S.A.F.E., The Library of Congress, The Educational Testing Service, Florida Power & Light, The State of Florida, Chevron, Deloitte.

Additional Details

Bringing the highest level thinkers and doers together—to explore solutions across a wide range of disciplines—is the hallmark of Ames Productions. From multi-state live debates on Nuclear Waste in the West to private screenings at the invitation of Senators Lugar and Biden for Oil Shockwave, Ames presents critical and complex issues in a way that is journalistically sound and engaging.